About Destination-Serengeti National Park

The Serengeti National Park is a large national park in northern Tanzania that stretches over 14,763 km² (5,700 sq mi).^[1] It is located in eastern Mara Region and northeastern Simiyu Region and contains over 1,500,000 hectares (3,700,000 acres) of virgin savanna. The park was established in 1940.

The Serengeti is well known for the largest annual animal migration in the world of over 1.5 million blue wildebeest and 250,000 zebra along with smaller herds of Thomson's gazelle and eland.^[2] The national park is also home to the largest lion population in Africa. It is under threat from deforestation, population growth and ranching.

The great migration is the world's longest overland migration. The complete migration route is around 800 km (500 mi). South of this migration route covers the Ngorongoro Conservation Area where around half a million Wildebeest are born between January and March. By March, at the beginning of the dry season, roughly 1.5 million and 250,000 zebras start to migrate heading north towards Maasai Mara in Kenya. Common eland, plains zebra, and Thomson's gazelle join the wildebeest. In April and May, the migrating herds pass through the Western Corridor. To get to the Maasai Mara, the herds have to cross the Grumeti and Mara Rivers where around 3,000 crocodiles lie in wait. For every wildebeest captured by the crocodiles, 50 drown. When the dry season ends in late October, the migrating herds start to head back south. Around 250,000 wildebeests and 30,000 plains zebras die annually from drowning, predation, exhaustion, thirst, or disease.^[22]

Tipping Policy:

Tipping is of course discretionary, but is an expected part of the way in which business is done in Tanzania. It counts as an expression of gratitude to those who – hopefully – have made your experience an unforgettable one, and enables you to directly reward those people. Our passengers come from all around the world, with different cultural attitudes to tipping, but a tip is of great significance here in Tanzania and will be hugely appreciated by the recipient. We know that the act of giving of a tip can be a bit awkward and we would suggest that the best way to remove this 'awkwardness' is for each group member to put their tip anonymously into an envelope and for the envelope to be presented by the group to the particular member.

As a guideline, you should consider tipping at the following levels:

Note:

What we have indicated is just an overview of how you can do it. This shouldn't in any way limit you since tipping indicates how professional they were and had your best interests in mind. You can choose to go beyond that as per your ability and satisfaction.

Terms of payment:

A client supposes to deposit 40% of total price in order to prepare trip reservations and 60% during a safari after picked up. When you deposited please let me know by sending bank receipt
